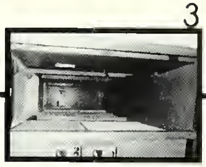
TABLE OF CONTENTS



Many of us do not really know just what happens here at Masconomet during a typical day. Sure, everyone goes to classes from 7:50 to 2:23, and people have sports and games in the afternoon and evening, but just who and what makes our education here possible? This year, we decided to do something different with the dedication, to tie it in with our theme, which, as you've probably already guessed, has something to do with doors. Instead of dedicating the yearbook to just one person, we are dedicating the 1986 MITOBO to all the people who have contributed to our lives and educations here, the people who have helped to "open doors" to our futures. Staff, faculty, counselors, parents, coaches, kitchen workers, advisors, custodians, they all have had an effect on us during our four years in high school. Most of these people work behind closed doors, and often we students fail to realize the importance of their jobs and do not truly appreciate them.

On the next few pages, we shall recognize the different facets of the Masconomet organization, although every single person involved in Masconomet affairs cannot be personally thanked. The Class of 1986 realizes, however, that many people who previously have gone unnoticed deserve our undue thanks for all they have done for the class and the school as a whole.

Ask your average Masconomet student if they can name the people who run the school, they will probably answer, "Well, there's Dr. Carroll, Mr. Smith, Mr. Soucy,....." and that will be about it. Most of us fail to realize the number of people who, here at school, control all that goes on from day to day.

First of all, there is the School Committee, composed of thirteen members elected by town voters, that forms school policies from budget administration to student discipline to building development. These people represent the three towns of Middleton, Topsfield, and Boxford (MITOBO), and are probably the most important people in the school hierarchy but the least seen and least appreciated by the student body. Too many seniors have no idea of who the person is who hands them their diploma, who, by the way, is the School Committee Chairperson.

Then, of course, there is Dr. Carroll, Mr. Dussault, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Soucy, who work here at the school, controlling the day to day affairs and making sure that everything goes smoothly. The individual teachers interact with students directly, from lecturing about the Constitution, to giving a pop quiz, to assigning homework, to writing recommendations, and are responsible for educating us. To get us through our senior year and into Harvard, there are the guidance counselors who also mend our schedules and get us started on career decisions. And to keep everyone organized, the numerous aides and secretaries spend hours typing, copying, and doing the little things that are important for things to get done during the school day. The custodians on both the day and night shifts keep the school looking good and clean and working properly, while the many monitors try to contain us in the halls and cafeterias and make sure we have our passes.

All these people have responsibility towards the school and are necessary for making the whole high school tick. To them we owe our education, and they deserve our utmost appreciation.

PARENTS

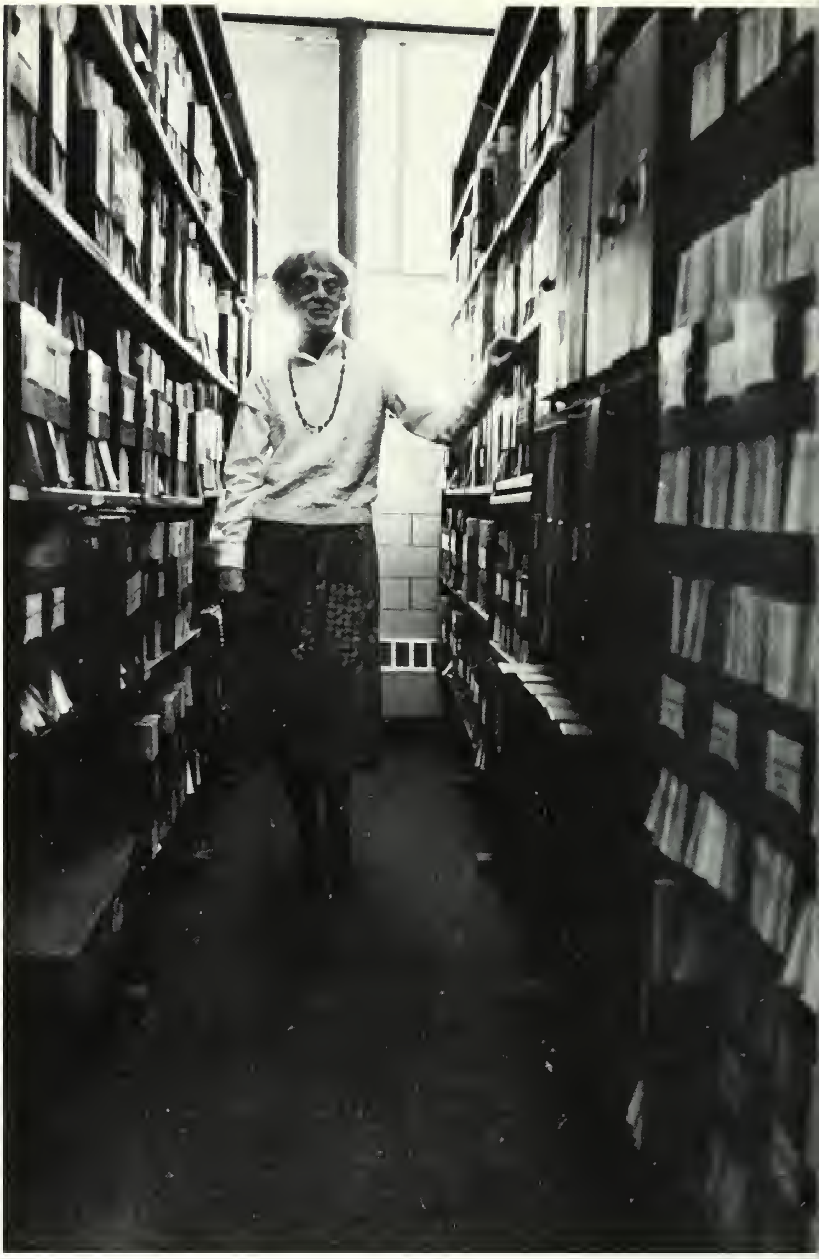
Your parents, although you may not realize it, are a major part of the affairs and events in Masconomet, and even in your own life. From staying up worrying on prom night or giving a helping hand on projects or homework to being a member of the Parents' Advisory Council, All-Sports Boosters, or Music Parents, they are concerned with you and what goes on at school. They willingly give up their precious time to be a part of the Masconomet community.

In the Parents'Advisory Council, parents can observe the education being offered here at Masconomet and offer ideas for ways to improve the system in order to make it more beneficial for us. Through the PAC, parents have a direct effect on our lives here. The Music Parents is another organization through which parents can participate in Masconomet's activities. Not only do they provide for Masconomet's excellent music program, but they offer scholarships to graduating seniors and let us enjoy grapefruit and oranges in the middle of winter. The All-Sports Boosters which promotes Masco's award-winning athletics and also provides scholarships to excellent athletes, is another group of parents which adds to Masconomet's lifestyle. Without these groups and the involvement of our parents, Masconomet would not be the excellent school it is today.

Life at Masconomet is not totally ruled by academics, and without the numerous coaches and advisors who give up their time for meager pay, the sports and clubs available to us would be non-existent.

Through both winning and losing seasons, our coaches teach us valuable lessons in sportsmanship, give us tips on improving our athletic skills, and make us learn to work together as a group. We may wish that we could do without them while sweating through double sessions, running sprints up and down the basketball court, cringing during post-game lectures, or gasping through mile number seven, but we owe all our success to them. In fact, Masco coaches last year led us to capturing the Lambert Trophy over all other Cape Ann League schools.

Of course, there are also the advisors to classes and clubs who spend endless hours dreaming up fund raising schemes, getting people to meetings, and recruiting members to keep the organinzations together. From WBMT to Radio Masco, the Student Council to NHS, the Thespians to Peer Ed, they all offer us chances to supplement our educations, to learn how to lead, or to get involved in school and student affairs.



In addition to many of the people who work at Masconomet, many of us do not know what some of the rooms and secret passages around the school look like. Places like backstage, the administration building, the boiler rooms, the tunnels, and the spotlight catwalk are frequented only by a select few, most of us not knowing that they exist.

SPORTS

The Chieftains once again dominated the Cape Ann League, and came out of the season unscathed, proudly bearing a 17-0-0 record. The boys scored a record 120 goals during the season, led by Tom Crowley and Shawn Perkins, while giving up an average of less than one goal a game. Former tough schools posed no problem, as the team easily defeated Lynnfield, North Andover, and Rockport during the season. Ranked number one in Division II, the team defeated both Concord-Carlisle and North Andover in the playoffs, 4-1, and went on to defend their Division II title against Marblehead. Playing yet another great game, Masco won, 4-2, and it looked like they would go all the way. Late injuries, unfortunately, took their toll on the team, as Shawn Perkins, Chris Hudson, and Matt Nicholas were all out of commission for the States against Rockland. Lacking their normal talent and speed in the backfield, Masco had trouble scoring and lost, 4-1.

Mr. Emmons, Division II Coach of the Year, had this to say about the team: "This was the finest high school soccer team I have ever coached. The players on the team were a close group who have played together for several years, and as a result we had the proper 'chemistry' to be a championship team."

Another winning tradition continues. The girls' record speaks for itself: 12-0 in the Cape Ann League, 18-0-1 in the regular season. The four leading scorers in the league, Emily Brown, Liz Poor, Liz Brown, and Kendall Daly led the team to a tremendous 119 goals scored to a mere 10 against, thanks to great goalkeeping by junior Christine Butterworth. The team ripped up the Cape Ann League and easily captured the title behind superb coaching by Jim Murphy and a well developed group of devoted players. The highlight of the season came when they beat rival Andover, 4-0, under the lights at their home field. After being seeded number one in Division II North, the girls unfortunately fell to the infamous first-round jinx, losing a very tough game to Belmont, 1-0. Still, it was a very fulfilling year, and the seniors wish the best of luck to next years captains- Margie Tyndall, Marnie Saitta, and Christine Butterworth.

BOYS CROSS COUNTRY

Thanks to some strong coaching and a strong collection of runners, the boy's cross-country team posted one of their best records in five years, ending the season at 6-5. The addition of a couple juniors this year, Jay Nordstrom and John Misiano, provided depth for the team and helped to build Coach Sinnott's "pack", led by Co-Captains Tom Gaudrault and Jeffrey Harris with junior Ned Kittridge. After a 3-0 start, the team fell victim to numerous league powerhouses and it appeared that they were in store for another losing season. But with the return of Brad Johnson, another junior, and some inspiration from the coach, the runners bore down and won their final two meets against Triton and North Andover, getting five runners under the seventeen-minute mark for the first time in several seasons. Next year's squad appears to have some serious potential as a league contender, and will be led by Tri- Captains Ned Kittridge, John Rei, and Brad Johnson.

The Bunnies had a harder time of it, but they again went undefeated for their seventh season in a row, extending their acclaimed winning streak to 76 meets. Amy Legacki once again set a pace for the team and the league, crossing the finish line first in nine of the ten meets. The team coasted through the schedule until they met up with Triton in the next-to-last meet of the season. Triton was looking to spoil Masco's streak at number seventy-five, and they appeared to have done so when blue shirts were seen intermingled with Masco's top six runners in the final mile. Despite Amy finishing second, the Cheiftains showed some determination and squeezed by them, 27-30. Sophomore Robyn Darling, already a good runner, came back this year even stronger and will be someone to watch in the next couple years. With the loss of only one senior, Jen Goodhue, it appears that the streak may last even another season with returning juniors Rory Evans, Jen Tinney, and Cheryl Bourque.

Mr. Casey ended his successful season with his 100th victory in ten years and also was Coach of the Year in the Boston Globe, deserved for his amazing development of the Girl's Cross-Country program at Masconomet. Congratulations!

Jerry Johnston gets sacked...a

With the loss of head coach Guerra and a slew of senior players, Masco Football faced a very tough season this year. Jerry Bouvier stepped in and attempted to build it up, using the most he could out of his veterans, often playing them both on offense and defense. The players rose to the occasion, and did a good job making up for their small numbers by playing their hardest. Despite their efforts, the team struggled to a 1-9 record. The one victory they did have was well deserved, as they beat Newburyport under the lights in overtime, 26-20. We will always remember Rob McArthur's long touchdown run, Tony Budd's bone-crushing sacks, and the final touchdown pass from Jerry Johnston to Dave Crimi in the overtime period that won the game.

Oliver Gauthier's blistering speed, John Mackay's 6'3" frame, and Pat Harvey's clutch place-kicking were other strong points of the season, but they weren't enough to overcome their opponents. The Cheiftans were also forced to play in all kinds of weather, from a hurricane during Homecoming to a blizzard on Thanksgiving Day. The experience they gained this year, however, along with a new weight training program, should help them next year and into the future.

Having a very talented team, Masco Field Hockey had its best season in three years, ending the season with a strong 6-4-2 record. Under the strong leadership of tri-captains Kim McGillivray, Suey McLaughlin, and Tracy Sanford, the Cheiftains displayed a much tighter defense along with explosive scoring ability, exemplified by their come-from-behind victory over Rockport. Coming to the end of the season, the team apparently was headed for states, but a tough loss knocked them out of the running. It was very close, however, as they missed out on states by only .01 point. Coach Pamela Finnigan was nevertheless proud of the way her team played this season, praising the playing of Gretchen McCarey, Lin Beach, and Goalie Lesley Weeks. She forsees another good season behind a group of veteran juniors, and wishes the best of luck to this year's seniors.

After three years of "trying harder" in second place, the Masco Golfers earned the CAL crown this season, dominating the rest of the league. Masco started the season with a victory over last years champion, Triton, and established their strength in the league right away. Later on in the season, a showdown was held between Masco and Lynnfield, both tied for first at 8-0-2, and Masco prevailed, 4-2. The only loss came in the final match of the season, when North Andover used a false lineup to steal the victory away. In the CAL open, Jamie Savian suprised many by capturing the championship with an 80 at Far Corners, capping off a tremendous season for him. Captain Eric Guyer showed his usual consistent play throughout the season, knocking in his putts when he needed to. Coach Lauzon, CAL Coach of the Year, was very pleased with the exciting season, and looks forward to next year.

FOOTBALL

The football squad was great this year! Having an older, more experienced squad made it easier for us to get along. Our new coach, Mrs. Booye, was terrific - she really had spunk! Even though the team didn't do very well this season, we had a lot of fun cheering in the sunshine, rain, and even in the snow! The squad really had spirit. Good luck next year!

BASKETBALL

The basketball cheerleaders were a spirited group this season. Coach Tammy Perkins brough some fresh cheers and moves to the group, and soon the girls had the fans swinging to Rock Steady and other great favorites. The squad won first place for dance during the the cheering cometition in February, and Sue McKenna was an All-Star cheerleader for the Cape Ann Team.

Being an older, experienced squad, the season passed a lot easier this year for the hockey cheerleaders. That's not to say we had a great season, but we had the most fun a squad could have. Mrs. Crowley was a first-time coach and did a great job for us. Taking our skating routine from the ice to the floor, we came away with an award for pep during competition. The Masconomet boys' basketball team had an extremely successful season this year, finishing 12-6 in the regular season and advancing to the state tournament. Starting out at a medicore 3-3, the year did not look promising. Some timely wins such as their victory over undefeated Ipswich, proved to themseves their potential, and soon they had qualified for the States. In the final game of the season, Masco faced first place North Andover and pulled out an exciting two point win behind Dave Crimi's clutch free throws. In the first game of States, Masco was an underdog, playing a very tall Wayland team, but suprised them with a swarming defense which caused numerous turnovers and an extremely loud group of fans. Masco then was matched with North Andover again, but this time we were the visiting team. In another game, the outcome went down to the final seconds when John MacKay broke free and layed in a shot as the buzzer sounded, stunning North Andover. The victory marked the farthest point Masco basketball team had ever advanced in the finals. A very good Swampscott team, unfortunately, ended Masco's season in the semi-finals.

Despite having a relatively young team, the girl's Basketball team had an excellent season and even qualified for the States. While most people were watching the Boys on Friday nights, the girls were fighting hard against tough teams such as North Andover and Ipswich and were winning behind high scorer Kendall Daley. Almost all of the games that the Chieftains lost were one point heartbreakers that could easily have gone our way, proving that the season could have been even better. The regular season ending at 13-5, Masco went into States with high hopes but fell to Belmont after playing a very tough game. The team, however, was not too disappointed, for with only two seniors and a handful of juniors they were able to play in State competition. After losing many seniors from their first-place team last year, the Masco Wrestling Team went into this season an underdog. But with some excellent coaching by Mr. Puleo and an overall effort by each member of the team, the wrestlers took third place in the Cape Ann League. The most exciting match of the year was the defeat of Pentucket, when Mike Pageau pulled out a win over his opponent in the final competition of the day. North Andover, whom Masco dethroned last year, will be hard pressed to repeat next year, with the entire Masco team returning aside from the two seniors. Having their most successful season in many years, the Girl Gymnasts went undefeated in the Northern League for the second year in a row, capturing their third straight title. Strong overall performances by Meg Ryan, Maryellen Driscoll, and Janet Holland in the bars, vault, beam, and floor gave Masco points which helped them win each meet. Performing in the North Sectionals meet, Masconomet came in second behind the eventual state champs Danvers, one place better than the preceeding year. The team went on to qualify for the State Meet for the second consecutive year, coming in sixth, their best performance.

The team owes much of its success to their devoted coach, Lee Gilbert, who has developed a strong team from three years ago when it was made up of only freshman and two sophmores. For the third consecutive year, the Masconomet Indoor Track team finished second in the Greater Lynn League. From the very first meet, it was obvious that the League title was to come down between two powerhouses: Dom Savio and Masconomet. Masco handled its first three meets with no problems, beating Lynnfield for the first time in many years in the process. Led by consistent first place winners James Reid, Wayne Stott, Bob Marquis, and Chris Hudson, the team was prepared for the mid-season showdown with the also undefeated Dom Savio. After a nip-and-tuck battle on the track, Dom Savio came out on top, coming on strong in the last couple events. Masco bounced back, winning the last two meets, but had a tough time in the League meet with many people sick. Two members qualified for the State track meet, and James Reid ended yet another excellent season there by breaking the school's 50 yard dash record.

Strong performances were also shown by Scott Bartlett, Jeff Boyle, Ned Kitteridge, Jeffrey Harris, Tom Gaudrault, and newcomer Steve Capone throughout the season. The team was also supplemented by four female runners who added fun in addition to points to the meets: Meg Ruggles, Debbie Boyle, Lin Beach, and Desiree Russell.

Annually, Masconomet stages a series of events for its students, faculty, and community. These major activities allow for maximum involvement from the student body. One of the great things about Masco is that there are events for everyone to get involved in. These include: banging a hammer on a stage set, sitting on Santa's lap at the Christmas party, dressing up in any number of disguises for the Halloween party, performing a Broadway show stopper in the annual musical, building a float for Homecoming, etc. If a student wants to get involved there are certainly adequate opportunities. With this in mind let's open the door on EVENTS!

The 1985 Junior-Senior Prom was held on May 11, 1985 at the Sheraton Rolling Green in Andover.

Proms are always special occasions of which lasting memories are made and this year's "Hold Me 'til the Morning Comes" was no exception.

Everyone looked radiant in their beautiful dresses and tuxedos. The music provided by WZOU's disk jockey, Steve York, was a perfect mix of slow and fast numbers and the meal was highlighted by a delicious Black Forest Cake.

The moment the crowd was waiting for followed with the crowning of the King and Queen and the announcement of the Court for 1985! Kim McGillivray and Matt Nicholas, Colleen Carr and Scott Bartlett, Amy Snyder and Brian Saumsiegle, Beth Baldassarri and her mysterious Cape Codder and Reine Garrity and Jimmy Lukowski were in the court and Dave Crimi and Janet Holland were the Prom King and Queen.

Shirley Vandebult and Daryl McKay did a fine job organizing the evening activities.

This year's Homecoming was, well, different. Tradition was broken when someone felt it would be a good idea to decorate the cafeterias instead of the halls, and the Seniors took first place once again. The long-awaited bonfire took place Friday night, with the ever-exciting speeches and effigy-throwings highlighting the evening. Floats were constructed the next day while athletes swept every game up to the football contest and parade. Masconomet students joined their respective classes in the field house, dressed up for their themes, and showed their spirit. Rain began to fall as the floats were dragged by human force onto the track, and by the end of the procession they were ruined and had to be dismantled. The football game finally started, but soon the Cheiftains found themselves bogged down in the mud and drizzle. Halftime brought a torrential downpour, dispersing most fans, but the game did go on. A few hardy souls waited out the game, only to watch Masco Football's winning streak broken at one. The king and queen were announced that night at the dance, in of all places, the field house. Once Chris Hudson and Reine Garrity had their dance, most people left in search of other entertainment. Thus ended another Homecoming at Masconomet.

Instead of carousing the streets on Halloween night, most Seniors ended up at school, tricking and treating in their costumes. Scattered throughout the cafeteria were Jasons for every Friday the 13th movie, a dozen Rambos, some Miami Vice impersonators, and even a Tweety Bird. Stan Crawford and Denise Eschenbach each won "Best Costume", while Liz and Emily Brown were the best couple as a Christmas Tree and present. Bobby Marquis, dressed as some type of savage that wielded a huge machete, easily won the prize for "costume that best reflects personality". Covered with strips of newspaper and wearing a hat, James Reid had the most original costume as Cousin It. When the party ended, everyone went home to do homework since, indeed, it was a school night.

After three years of scoreless games in this annual classic, the '86 Seniors were determined to change this trend. After numerous Sunday practices with the Football captains, the girls were prepared to take on the Juniors, who also had held a few practices themselves. With a long list of plays in the book plus some secret ones up their sleeves, the Seniors obviously had the edge even before the game. The stands soon filled with anxious fans as the Juniors kicked off to the Seniors. Behind quarterback Nancy Cerullo, the Seniors marched down the field and scored on a fifteen-yard pass to Janet Holland. That was the end of the scoring, but the Juniors did threaten late in the game as they gained good field position as a result of Doreen "Let Me At-Em" Lukowski's fouls. It was a well fought game on both sides, but the 6-0 score proved the Seniors'superiority this time.

The annual Masconomet drama productions open doors for many students both center stsge and behind the scenes. They allow them the opportunity to showcase their multiple talents and skills. This year was no exception. The fall production of "Best Laid Plans" under the able direction of Ms. Jean Jarvie thoroughly entertained those who attended.

This fast-paced and suspenseful production featured multiple unusual plot twists that kept its audiences constantly guessing.

Jennifer Taylor starred as a mystery writer who got caught up in a real-life plot similiar to one she had written about. She was most convincing in her role as were other actors including Jamie Savian who stepped in admirably at the last minute when Tim Barnes fell ill.

Without the hard work behind the scenes including an innovative promotional campaign this play would not have been so well received.

For two glorious nights in March, Masco's stage became a lush, tropical paradise in the South Pacific. Jeff Hatcher as French planter Emile de Becque, woos navy nurse Nellie Forbush (Susan Bott) as he sings "Some Enchanted Evening." Bloody Mary (Emily Iarocci) lures Lt. Cable (Tim Barnes) to the off-limits magical island of Bali Hai, where he falls in love with Mary's daughter, Liat (Jody Schultz). Anxious to get to the island where a sailor can get "anything" are the seabees, led by Luther Billis (Ross Pearsall). Billis and the seabees sing about their fantasies in "There is nothing like a dame!" Nellie Forbush struggles with herself about her love for Emile de Becque as she promises the other navy nurses "I'm Gonna Wash That Man Right Out of My Hair." Naturally Nellie finally falls for the charms of both her "Frenchman" and the beautiful "South Pacific."

The German Exchange was an experience none of the students forgot. From Saarbrücken, some of them also visited Paris, Munich, Heidelberg, and Trier. Berlin was the best place, with the Denkmal and all the meisters - Kauf, Einfach, Smurf, Krank and Foto. Overall, they did learn some vocabulary and how to get along with others. Most of all, instead of being NO FUN, the trip was a lot of fun.

Masco Exchange students ready to depart from

In the spring of 1985, twenty Masconomet students trekked to France where they had some fascinating experiences. During their stay, the group toured Paris often, visited prehistoric caves in Southern France (where they learned of "sheets of wood"), and walked the grounds of famous castles. Friendship bonds were created and we were sad to leave our accustomed life in Gay Paris, but many promised that someday they will return to visit.

The one and only.

The underclassmen at Masconomet still have doors open to them. We, as seniors, encourage them to open as many of them as possible.

Take another class instead of a study. Participate in another activity instead of going home and watching "General".

Contribute to class activities instead of complaining about things not happening.

Masco is a place full of potential as long as you open the right doors.

Here's to the classes of 1987 through 1989!

THESPIANS

The Thespian Troupe here at Masco is an active club for those students who enjoy the limelight a great deal. Anyone who gains enough "points" through memorizing lines for parts in the play and musical held each year, lugging ladders and scenery around backstage, or handling the cash doing ticket sales, for example, can join. The troupe entertained at various dinner dances during the year and enjoyed an exciting trip to New York City, as always.

THEATRICAL PRODUCTION CREWS

The Stage Crew, pictured here, worked "behind the scenes" along with the Business Club, Set Design, and Makeup and Costume to get both the "Best Laid Plans" and "South Pacific" off without a hitch this year. They were resposible for the design, construction, and promotion of each production, and set the mood and tone for them. This year even more people came to enjoy the productions, and hopes are for even more attendance in the future.

MARCHING BAND

The Masconomet Regional Marching Ensemble, under the new leadership of Ms. Bystrak, had another successful season this year. Performing at all football games at home plus marching in the Memorial Day Parade, members must work hard at sharpening their marching skills throughout the year. Work begins at band camp in the summer and continues into the school year during after school practices. A lot of devotion on many peoples' part goes into each halftime spectacle.

CONCERT BAND

In the Concert Band, talented musicians come together to practice and perfect pieces of music which can vary from works of classic composers to modern jazz, pop, or dixieland. The band had superb performances at the Winter and Spring Concerts, the annual "Concert on the Green", and at Class Night and Graduation this year. Congratulations!

WIND ENSEMBLE

Each Spring, members of the Concert Band are allowed to audition for the following year's Wind Ensemble, a select group of musicians who are given more attention and play more difficult pieces. The ensemble performs at many of the same concerts as the Concert Band, and members are given honors credit for participating.

SINGERS

Singers is exactly what the word means-a group of singers. The large group has a good time learning and performing songs from around the world from many time periods. One favorite custom is for all Singers alumni to join the group for a small performance at the end of the Christmas Concert each year.

CHORALE

Only the best singers are invited to participate in Chorale. The group is arranged in an order to produce the best possible harmony and melody in each performance. In addition to appearing in the Winter and Spring concerts here at Masconomet, the Chorale performed for organizations in and around the Tri-Town area throughout the year.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Each spring, students are elected to the Student Council from each class to "represent" their homerooms. Behind the leadership of the executive board, members meet semi-weekly to plan various activities for both students and administration. The Student Council organized yet another successful Homecoming Weekend, held the annual Senior Citizen's Dinner, and brought back Winter Week. The two Bloodmobiles got much response from the Masconomet community, and a talent show was produced for the first time.

It stands for Student Leaders Advisory Team. (And yes, the "A" is correct) Members come from each class' executive board plus the Student Council and NHS executive boards, and are behind planning the calendar for each school year, making decisions on school activities and functions. The team is called together again to work with the Principal on correcting any problems inherent in the school, if they come up.

CHESS TEAM

Meeting every Wednesday, the Chess Team is famous for their checkmating and ability to use their pawns. In each meet, a part of the Northshore League, five players at different levels compete across the boards. In-school competition determines these five players. Behind Captain Brian Lunn, the team was 1-1-6 this year. And since there is only one junior on the team, the only underclassmen, next year is not very promising.

FUTURE PROBLEM SOLVERS

The FPS consists of three teams of bright students who research futuristic problems such as "Endangered Species" or "World Hunger" and try to develop possible solutions for each of them. Last year Masco won the state title for the third consecutive time and did well in the International FPS Bowl, coming in third. With two strong teams this year which have put in a lot of time, Masco should take a fourth consecutive title in the spring.

ACADEMIC DECATHALON

Armed with the best scholars Masco has to offer, Dr. Masterson entered a group in the annual Academic Decathalon. At the first competition, a regional one, each student had to take six tests on different topics such as Literature, History, or Math, and then each student's scores were added to give a total for each school. Out of thiry schools, Masco finished eighth, and went on to the State competition. The same process was used, and Masco came in fourth.

MODEL UNITED NATIONS

Model U.N.aims to recreate a forum where students representing the interest and constituencies of sovereign nations experience the rewards and frustrations of multilateral negotiations on numerous current issues. Each center of learning is designated a specific nation, and students impersonate diplomats, acquiring the education inherent in working and negotiating intensity with other scholors from the United States of America and abroad. During competition at Harvard University in December, the Masconomet phalanx was bestowed an individual award of merit for Carrie Schmitt's labour, and then performed valiantly in New York during the Spring.

SPANISH CLUB

The Spanish Club kept itself very busy this year. A Christmas party at Kim's house included the making of Christmas cards, memorization of Spanish Christmas carols, and the construction and destruction of a piñata. There also were trips to museums and restaurants during the year, and the group attended a Mexican ballet and folkdance performance in Boston in the spring.

GERMAN CLUB

During the year, the German Club has sponsored an Advent craft workshop, a guestspeaker at Masconomet, a potluck dinner, and a German Gala at the end of the year. Other activities have included an Oktoberfest in Lowell, a German play at MIT, and a trip to a museum. A scholarship for a senior has been funded trough money raised by a Christmas cookie bake, an Advent Kalender sale, and a Gummi-Bär sale.

Peer Ed is made up of a group of trained students specially prepared to handle other teenagers' problems with suicide, divorce, drug use, and other facets of adolescence. Through their spacious office, they reach out to the school and provide information on stress, depression, and other problems. They present an annual skit to the high school on suicide, provide free rides on Prom night, and work with orientation new students.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club holds many activities for French students during the year. Frequent trips to the Cabot St. Cinema for French films, a French cuisine food day, and the annual Mardi Gras mask contest have highlighted the year, in addition to singing Christmas carols at Hunt Hospital for children with the other language clubs. The activities supplement each member's education in French.

SCIENCE TEAM

The Science Team competes in six meets each year, and gets together once a month to pore over formulas and texts. The topics at each competition range from Biology to Chemistry to Physics to Miscellaneous, with each team being ranked afterwards. Out of 22 teams, Masco has placed consistently in the top three, and even brought home the Einstein Trophy once, the prize for first place.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Members of the NHS are inducted in either their Junior or Senior year after a tough selection process, and are expected to participate in numerous projects during the year. The NHS is responsible for College Night, Holiday movies for children, the Heart Fund Phonathon, and ushering during Senior Week in June. Members also participate in the tutoring program offered by the NHS.

The Distributive Education Class prepares its students for future jobs in retail business, marketing, or merchandising. Lessons in competition, interviewing, and management are valuable tools which give the students an extra edge as they enter the working world. A trip to Quincy Market this year exposed them to actual stores and businesses, an opportunity to see just what goes on to keep a store running. The students are also given a chance to use their skills first hand by selling candy in the DECA store.

WBMT

Entering its tenth year, WBMT is still going strong. With a growing following in the Tri-town area and a large staff, the powerful radio station is diversifying its programs even more. Progressive rock, top 40, classical, all types of music is presented, along with special interest programs every now and then. And then of course there are the football, soccer, and basketball games that WBMT brings to us live. Many students are planning to use their experiences with the station as a starting point for careers.

ALTERNATIVE SCHOOL

The Alternative School is a special program for a group of students which supplements their normal educations here at Masco. It helps them in dealing with both themselves and others around them by involving them in group discussions. It also gives them a chance to relax and be themselves during the school day. An individuals abilities and needs determine the amount of attention and work each student receives. Field trips and group activities are held occasionally and are important in bringing the group together.

The Training Center offers an opportunity to developmentally delayed students to receive an education in a high school environment. This provides them a chance to interact with other students in addition to using the school's facilities. The Training Center teaches the students skills which will eventually give them the opportunity to be independant productive adults. Functional academics and pre-vocational training is the focus of the work in the classroom, and field trips are held to practice their new skills. Since students do not attend regular classes, they do not get to know other students very well. This is where the volunteer program comes in-students from all classes come in and make friendships with the students, working and learning with them. Volunteers are role models for the students, and make the whole program much more valuable for everybody.

Early Childhood Education is both a nursery for pre-school children and a high school course for juniors and seniors. The nursery is run by Mrs. Mannheim, and is open to 3-5 year old children from the tri-town area. Students who have signed up for the course work with the children during one period and also are taught by Mrs. Mannheim how to deal with young children, learn about their mental development, and develop leadership skills. They also learn to appreciate that caring for young children and making it a profession is a worthy life choice. It provides the students an opportunity to be creative, responsible, and to interact with young kids. An advanced program for seniors allows them to do independent field work at local nursery schools and kindergartens.

Under teacher Stuart Deane, students take journalism as a regular school course, arning the fundamentals of producing a newspaper. Students report on various ents and activities during the school year, in addition to the seasonal Masco orts. Every week they must collect quotes, gather news, and write a well-veloped article on specific topics, and then layout the pictures and stories to be blished in the Tri-Town Transcript. Others provide pictures to supplement articles, t everyone works together to produce the Chieftan Chronicle. Many journalists e produced from the excellent program, with controversial opinions occasionally ing brought to light. The Tri-Town community is exposed to Masconomet life ough their strong work.

Period 7, another Journalism session commences.

This year we decided to keep the yearbook simple, but classy. No box. No three different sections that are impossible to jam inside the box. What we did do was spend more time giving attention to what was inside the book. We gave more coverage to the sports, events, and clubs so you are not left to figure out what they all did during the year. We also added captions to most pictures, so you will know who the people are ten years from now. One mistake we did make was to use the computer for the copy. Suey and Shirley spent endless hours typing away on them. Between both of us, we think our last deadline was the best since we had extra practice typing in the copy. The computer, for some unknown reason, erased our disk which stored 50 of our pages. A total Shamparoo. But we did have a wonderful time doing it all! Despite it all, we did have some fun, with our week out at Westfield, round-the-clock deadline parties at the McLaughlins, and numerous dumb jokes. Boy were they dumb. Mr. Meinelt kept us going through the deadlines and supplied us with creative ideas and captions.(what are twillers)?

Every year the cost of publishing a quality yearbook continues to skyrocket. It would be hard to imagine a class leaving Masconomet without a new yearbook on the library shelves. In order to defray the cost we, annually, reach out to the business community for financial support in this undertaking.

Without the support of local businesses we wouldn't exist. Therefore, we want to thank all of our advertisers as well as our Friends, Patrons, and Sponsors for opening not only their doors but their cash registers for the Class of 1986.

Going to McDonald's® is almost as much a part of school as going to class. You've made us the place to meet, to talk, to have a good time, to celebrate your victories and help forget defeats.

You've made McDonald's more than just another place to eat. And that's why, at McDonald's, we say...

IT'S A GOOD TIME FOR THE GREAT TASTE.

DON'T ENCUMBER YOUR HIGH-PERFORMANCE CAR WITH A LOW-PERFORMANCE LEASE.

When you lease a BMW from an authorized BMW dealer, you're assured of a BMW warranty.* You're assured of BMW service, performed by factory-trained technicians. And you're assured of the world's largest inventory of Genuine BMW Parts.

When you lease a BMW somewhere else, you're only sure of one thing: that you can't be sure what you'll receive.

So contact us if you're interested in a leasing agreement that's as well-engineered as your BMW.

THE ULTIMATE DRIVING MACHINE.

*3 year, 36,000 mile limited warranty and 6 year limited warranty against rust perforation. See your dealer for details.

THE A TO Z OF FINANCING A COLLEGE EDUCATION.
A SHAWMUT GUIDE.

At Shawmut, we believe that the last thing that should keep someone from going to college is money.

And although it isn't getting any easier to finance a college education, we're doing all we can to help.

That's why we've put together a special guide to financing higher education. In it, you'll discover all sorts of ideas for raising the money you need. And if a Shawmut education loan can be of assistance to you, you'll find all the information you need to apply for one.

If you want to know more about how to get money for higher education, ask for our guide at any Shawmut office.
